

Back to School Resolutions FOR PARENTS

Parents, as you send your children back to school this year, consider making a few resolutions to make this a successful academic year. The list below is a good start - what can you add? Most importantly, share the list with your child to help set expectations for both of you.

1. I will give you a break after school if you need it before asking you to start homework.
2. I will offer guidance and assistance, but not a full solution, when you encounter a challenge.
3. I will enforce a reasonable bed time, even if you fight me on it.
4. I will provide a healthy, nutritious breakfast.
5. I will document your first and last day of school with a photo every year.
